

IS THE CITY TO BE AGAIN THE "GOAT" FOR PERSONAL AMBITION OF MAXFIELD?

COMPLAINT FILED WITH STATE TAX COMMISSION RELATIVE TO THE ASSESSMENT BEING REVISED.

WANTS INVESTIGATION

Failure to Secure Results From Water Company's Suit Causes Present City Attorney to Find New Campaign Argument.

Taxpayers of Janesville are to be the "goat" of the latest political ambition of the present city attorney, Harry Maxfield. Failing to secure political capital from the recent decision of the suit against the Janesville Water company, before the state railroad commission, by which the rates were really increased, Mr. Maxfield has sought another method of securing popular approbation by applying to the Wisconsin tax commission to have the assessment for the city of Janesville readjusted.

That is, the city attorney having failed to secure a good campaign issue for the coming spring campaign he now seeks to appeal to the popular role. In fact, it is a fact he made no move towards this latest move for the benefit of the "Dear Popul" until he found he had been put in a hole by the recent decision of the railway commission on the water company. County Supervisor of Assessments Starr, makes the following statement today relative to the matter:

"The readjustment of the property of the city of Janesville by the State Tax Commission would cost a large amount of money which the taxpayers of the city would have to pay."

"That the assessment of some classes of personal property in the city as compared with real estate and other classes of personal property is not assessed according to law, is a fact."

"That is true in every town, city and county in the state and the unequal assessment of such property has brought about the income tax law of this state, which is expected to remedy the conditions which now exist."

"There has not been a readjustment made by the tax commission for more than a year. Why? Simply because towns, cities and counties have learned to adjust their difficulties in regard to assessment and equalization."

"I believe that an appeal to the tax commission for a readjustment should be the last remedy applied for and not the first."

"In fact every other remedy at hand that would bring about the desired result should be applied before appealing to the tax commission."

"Section 1061, Statutes of 1898, as amended under the head 'Board of Review, Its Duties and Powers': 'Any person claiming any correction of the assessment may call witnesses to support the same or to show that any property on the roll is assessed too high or too low and the attendance of witnesses may be compelled by subpoena issued by a justice of the peace.'"

"It is fair to say that the above remedy should have been applied before appealing to the tax commission."

Mayor John C. Nichols, also a member of the assessment committee, said: "It is a surprise to me completely. I know nothing of it. I am more than surprised. Of course I can not express myself but still the people can understand what I think."

City Clerk Cummings had not seen the statement, but stated that he preferred to make no statement. He desired time to think it all over. Members of the council were most open in their disapprobation of the movement and business men freely expressed their opinion it was ill-advised. The communication of Maxfield to the State Tax Commission is as follows:

The petition and complaint of Harry L. Maxfield respectfully shows to your honorable body that your said petitioner is a resident and taxpayer and city attorney of said city of Janesville, and as such is a member of the Board of Review of said city.

That from and after the 1st day of May, 1911, to the last of June, 1911, the assessors of said city of Janesville made up the tax roll and valuation of the real and personal property in said city; that after said tax roll was made up by said assessors, the same was delivered to the Board of Review at their regular annual meeting, held on the first Monday in July.

That during the sitting of said Board of Review, M. G. Jeffris and George G. Sutherland, in company with other taxpayers of said city, appeared in person before said Board of Review.

MEAT SUPPLY WILL BE BADLY AFFECTED

Hoof and Mouth Disease is Becoming Seriously Prevalent in Germany

—Meat Prices Go Up.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Berlin, Aug. 26.—The hoof and mouth disease is now making such ravages among German flocks that even the Agrarian leagues admit that the meat supply of the country is seriously threatened. An official report of the Imperial Government, dated July 31, shows that 21,926 farms, located in 1,898 different districts, are affected. One result of the spread of the disease has been a reduction in the number of cattle in the country.

According to the latest official reports the number of all live stock, except swine, brought to market this year has been smaller than in 1910. It is claimed by the Agrarian newspapers that the disease was brought into Germany in June, 1910, from Russia, and that, despite the rigorous precautionary measures of the authorities, it has spread to its present proportions in the brief space of one year. Just now the meat supply is further threatened by the certainty that all sorts of animal food products will be scarce and high. The grass crop has been greatly damaged by the protracted heat and drought of the spring and summer. The potato crop also, as is feared, will be much shorter than usual; and this means much for the meat supply, since the waste of potato alcohol distilleries is one of the principal feeding materials for fattening live stock. The oat crop has also been seriously injured by adverse weather conditions.

STATE HAS WITNESS TO CLINCH MATTERS IN BEATTIE TRIAL

State Claims It Has Witness Which Will Clinch State's Evidence, It Is Stated.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Aug. 26.—A witness whose testimony will clinch the chain of circumstantial evidence against Henry C. Beattie, alleged wife murderer, will shortly appear. It is claimed by the state's lawyers today. Witnesses to corroborate the damning evidence against the prisoner yesterday were called today. Beattie lost his frozen calm and appeared uneasy.

Important Testimony.

E. R. Mosey, who with companions in an automobile passed the Beattie car on the night of the murder, testified the Beattie car was standing in the road, a woman, presumably Mrs. Beattie, standing on the left running board, while a man, evidently Beattie, was fixing the engine. His companions affirmed his testimony. The jury viewed the blood-stained automobile today.

Boys Corroborate.

Six school boys gave testimony today indicating that a woman, presumably Mrs. Beattie, was standing on the left running board of the machine which they passed, and that a man was crouched in the front of the car. The prosecution endeavored this way to shatter the contention advanced at the instant that Mrs. Beattie was killed the left-hand seat when she was killed.

One boy said he saw a man, unnamed, standing by the machine near the scene of the crime which three hours later was committed. This is in the line of the prosecution's contention that Beattie placed his gun in the bushes nearby so as to be available when he was ready for the deed of which he stands accused.

GREATEST WARSHIP AFLOAT IS LAUNCHED TODAY AT QUINCY

Rivadavia, Largest Ship in World Under Construction or Designed, Is Being Built For Argentine Republic.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Quincy, Mass., Aug. 26.—Declared to have no equal afloat as a first-class fighting machine, the dreadnought Rivadavia, the largest ship of war now building or under design and the first battleship ever built in the United States for a foreign power, was successfully launched from the Fore River Shipbuilding Company shortly after noon today. The Rivadavia is being built for the Argentine Republic. A sister ship, the Moreno, is under construction at Camden, N. J., and will soon be ready for launching.

As the big hull started down the ways with the golden sunburst on a field of blue and white, the colors of the republic of Argentina, flying from the stern, Senor de Nao, wife of the Argentine Minister to the United States, broke a gayly bechorded bottle of champagne against the keel of the great ship and spoke words that gave the vessel its name. In performing the christening ceremony Senor de Nao acted as proxy for Senor Rosa Suarez Penn, wife of the President of the Argentine Republic.

Thousands cheered and waved their hats as the giant hull rushed into the water. Among those who witnessed the spectacle were a number of the South American diplomats who are spending the summer in New England, together with numerous naval officers from Charlestown, Brooklyn and elsewhere and experts from the naval department and various shipbuilding companies, all of whom have been greatly interested in the construction of the Rivadavia, which is of a type which has come to be known among shipbuilding men as a super-dreadnought.

GRAND STAND CRASH RESULTS IN INJURY TO MANY AT ELGIN

THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE CARRIED DOWN AS RACE STARTS SERIOUSLY INJURING A SCORE OF PEOPLE.

RECORD CROWDS TODAY

Record Crowd Gathered Today to Witness Fastest Races of the Events—Zengel Leads in 144th Lap.

Elgin, Ill., Race Tracks, Aug. 26.—Shortly after the race started several sections of the grandstand collapsed, carrying a thousand to fifteen hundred spectators down. Officially it is stated none were seriously hurt, but a large number were slightly injured. The race was stopped and a new start was given.

Record Breaking Crowd.

There was every promise of a record breaking crowd today to witness the western road classic of 305 miles for the Elgin National trophy. It was estimated that twenty thousand persons were scattered about the course two hours before the race began.

A Score Injured.

It was later discovered that a score of persons were injured, four seriously. Among the injured were Mrs. Ray Graham, daughter of Senator Lorimer, who had her leg broken; Mrs. Chas. Coey of Chicago, eye badly bruised and ankle twisted; H. J. Sawyer, Joliet, son-in-law of Warden Murphy of the state penitentiary, who was slightly hurt.

Fifty Minute Delay.

Harry Olson, chief justice of the Chicago municipal court, his wife and son were all slightly injured and Mr. and Mrs. Fred McNally had their bodies bruised. After fifty minutes' delay the race was resumed at 11:50.

During the Race.

DePalma with a broken fly wheel, Aitken with engine trouble, Wishart had a broken rod which dropped out early and at the end of 70 miles Mulford dropped out leaving six in the contest.

Time Predicted.

Harry Grant, two-time Vanderbilt winner and Ralph Mulford, winner of the event last year, figured a car which could average 60 miles per hour would prove victor but there was considerable betting that the victor would have to make 67 or 68 miles per hour to capture the cup. Yesterday's events did no damage to the roadster.

At the end of the 144th mile Zengel was still leading.

At the completion of 101 miles Zengel was leading, his time being 1:30:24; Grant was second.

At two hundred and three miles Zengel was four minutes ahead of Grant. Time, 3:02:07 or average of 62:84 miles an hour. He was eleven minutes ahead of Mulford's time at this distance last year.

IS CITY TO BE MADE "GOAT" OF MAXFIELD?

and objected to the assessment and valuation of property in the city of Janesville on the grounds that the same was not uniform and equal, and that the rate of valuation of the taxable property in the city of Janesville was from eighteen to twenty-two per cent higher than the valuation placed on similar property in Beloit and other cities in Rock county, as well as the state of Wisconsin.

Said petitioner further shows that after going over said tax rolls of said city as prepared by said assessors, he found that the same, where valuations had been placed on residence property, was amply high and in some few instances was higher than the sale price asked by the owner of the property.

That in the valuation placed upon the manufacturing plants and property in said city your petitioner found that the same was not uniform. That the valuation placed upon different manufacturing plants and business blocks in said city of Janesville was as follows, while the amount of property owned by said companies is quoted from Dun's and Bradstreet's reports, they being two commercial reporting companies that make a business of ratings, the same being done upon the affidavits of some officer or member of the respective firm, showing the amount of property owned by such concern, and the rating given is usually from fifty to one hundred per cent less than the actual amount of property owned by the respective concerns.

Your petitioner further shows that the assessment and valuation placed upon the taxable property in the city of Janesville for the year 1911 was not in substantial compliance with law, and that the interest of the public and the tax-payers and residents of the city of Janesville will be promoted by a re-assessment of such property, and such re-assessment will be for the best interests of the public.

That the Janesville Water company and the New Gas Light company of said city have been valued by the engineers of the Railroad Commission of the state of Wisconsin, but none of the other public utilities in said city have been so valued.

That the assessed valuation of all property in said city of Janesville is about $10,800,000, which is a reasonably high valuation of the property in said city, but which is not uniformly spread in compliance with law.

That the tax roll made up by the assessors and reviewed by the Board of Review of said city for said year was made in accordance with the manner and custom of making up tax rolls in said city for the years prior to said year 1911, and the same is not in compliance with law, and the interests of the public will be promoted by a re-assessment of such property in said city, as well as a re-adjustment of the valuation placed upon said city of Janesville by the County Board of Equalization for Rock county.

Wherefore, your petitioner prays that your honorable body issue an order for a summary hearing upon the above and foregoing allegations in said complaint, and if it shall be made to appear upon said hearing, and your honorable body shall find that the assessment of property in said assessment district of said city of Janesville was not made in substantial compliance with law, and that the interest of the public will be promoted by a re-assessment of such property, that an order be issued directing the re-assessment by the proper officials of all the taxable property in the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin.

Dated this 25th day of August, 1911.

II, L. MAXFIELD,

City Attorney for City of Janesville.

SCRIPTURE

ISAIAH 35 1-10

The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose.

It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing; the glory of Lebanon shall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God.

Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you.

Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.

Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb shall sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert.

And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, shall be grass with reeds and rushes.

And a highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it; but it shall be for those: the wayfaring men, though fools, shall not err therein.

No lion shall be there, nor any ravenous beast shall go up thereon, it shall not be found there; but the redeemed shall walk there:

And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

NO PARDON; LINCOLN SHOT

Reason for Booth's Act Is Thus Explained by Bishop in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 26.—A new version of the assassination of President Lincoln was given at the funeral of Father Thomas S. Major here by Bishop Maas of Covington, who credited it to Father Major of Gen. John Hunt Morgan's command. While in Canada Father Major was told of a plot by five Confederate soldiers to kidnap President Lincoln and then let the war continue. One of the men was captured in Washington and condemned. The soldier was a friend of Wilkes Booth, who asked President Lincoln for a reprieve. The reprieve was held up and the soldier was shot. Booth, in a rage, assassinated Lincoln.

TWO GAMES MORE IN COMMERCIAL LEAGUE

Caloric and Hanson Teams Are Playing Today and Will Meet Again On Labor Day To Play For Third Place.

With the exception of two games between the Caloric and Hanson Furniture Company teams, the season of the Commercial League is officially closed. The Chof and Woodworkmen are playing this afternoon at Athletic Park and will participate in another contest on Labor Day to settle the question of which team shall take third place in the league. If the Hanson win the two games, they will hold third honors. This action of disbanding all matches but the two mentioned was taken by the managers of the teams in the league at a meeting on Thursday night. It was also decided at the meeting to hold a banquet for all players and members of the league. The date for the feast was not definitely set, but will occur some time in October.

MILTON WINS GAME FROM LOCAL TEAM

Defeated Bower City Aggregation by Score of 6 to 3 Yesterday Afternoon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milton, Aug. 25.—Milton defeated a picked team from the Janesville Commercial League here today by a score of 6 to 3. Abraham, for the Bower City boys pitched a very fair game but bunched hits and poor support were too strong for him to win. Bond, twirled a brilliant game for the locals, allowing six hits, three of which were bunched in the third stanza with a passed ball for two of the tallies accumulated by the visitors. Score: R. H. E. Milton... 021000210—6 9 2 Janesville... 002000100—3 6 2 Three-base hit, Nohr. Two-base hits, Bond (2), Miller. Bases on balls, off Abraham, 6. Struck out, by Abraham, 10; by Bond, 12. CASECALL NOTES. The Boston Red Sox will again do their spring training at Augusta, Ga. Outfielder Jones of the Boston Nationals has been sold to Memphis, of the Southern League. Pitcher Killian has won four of the five games he has pitched for the Boston Red Sox. Manager McAlister plans to have his Washington team do its spring training at home next year. "Scoops" Carey is doing good work with the Pirates and making a hit with the Pittsburgh fans. Catcher Fred Mitchell, who was with the Highlanders last season, is now Rochester's star batsman. With Maceo back in the lineup the Quakers should be able to stay in the hunt for the National League pennant. During the Boston Red Sox's last stay at home they lost 3 out of 5 games to St. Louis and won 4 out of 5 from Detroit. Eastern fans are eager to get a slant at Marty O'Flaherty, the $25,000 pitcher, who has joined the Pittsburgh team. "Nip" Lajoie is doing great work with the Athletics and crowding Ty Cobb for the batting championship of the American League. Now that the Tigers are playing at home, Detroit fans figure that there is nothing to it but first place for the Jumbo's crew. Cleveland instead of the White Sox gets "Buddy" Ryan of the Portland team. Ryan is the holding, batting and throwing sensation of the Pacific Coast league. The White Sox are a little leary of the Athletics. When the Sox play in Philadelphia they spend their spare time cutting open baseballs used on the Quaker lot, trying to find some phonies. Chief Meyers of the Giants complains that Pitcher McIntyre's spit ball resembles a sprinkling can when it floats over the plate. The Chief says that he will wear a rubber veil when he next faces the Cub pitcher. WITH THE BOXERS. Lord Lansdale has offered a new

MISS HAZEL LAUGENOUR SWIMS ACROSS THE GOLDEN GATE.

Miss Hazel Laugenour, the first girl who ever swam the Golden Gate. San Francisco, Cal.—By swimming across the Golden Gate from Fort Point to Line Point, is a very difficult swim, not so much because of the distance, but because of the choppy cross currents which always prevail in the narrows. Her mother and father were both within speaking distance of Miss Laugenour during the entire trip across and her mother frequently and enthusiastically called out to her: "Go it little girl, you'll make it."

Must Be Strenuous Preacher. A theological student was sent one Sunday to supply a vacant pulpit in a Connecticut valley town. A few days afterward he received a copy of the weekly paper of that place, with the following item marked: "Rev. — of the senior class at Yale seminary supplied the pulpit at the Congregational church last Sunday, and the church will now be closed three weeks for repairs."

Sign of Superiority. "Some of the primitive instincts linger in the highest civilization," said the statesman. "Yes," replied the ethnologist: "many of our communities cannot get away from the idea that a man who manages to get possession of a high elk hat is thereby qualified to be a leader."

Be Ready When Your Chance Comes

Opportunity Comes to Everybody, But It Is Useless If One Is Not Prepared to Take Advantage of It

Geniuses make opportunity. But geniuses are rare. The ordinary man has to wait till it comes along, and then use it to get success, or fame, or money, or power, or whatever happens to be the object of his ambition.

You will hear a great many people say that they have waited all their lives for opportunity to knock at their doors and never heard so much as a footstep. But such people are only accounting for their own failures. The easiest of all excuses to make is for failure.

But in every enlightened nation, the man who knows opportunity when he sees it and WHO IS PREPARED TO MAKE USE OF IT, can never complain that he has had no chance.

It makes little difference how humble is the station in which a man begins life, if he is only determined not to stay there. The were specially organized, especially equipped, and are conducted along special lines to help the young man and woman who feels that opportunity has not come their way. We have STARTED hundreds of young people on the road to success, some of whom are now owning a business of their own; some are managers of corporations, some court reporters, private secretaries, or confidential clerks. A BUSINESS EDUCATION opened to them the door of opportunity. Let us give YOU the "RIGHT START." We can open the door of opportunity for you if you will complete our courses.

All Business Schools Do Not Teach Business

as it is practiced in the best business houses.

We are anxious to have every young person who is thinking of securing a business education to examine our record as shown by the success of our graduates. With scarcely an exception, you will notice our graduates ALWAYS secure the BEST positions in every office, not the second and third rate positions. This shows the HIGH GRADE work which we are doing.

Besides our courses are PRACTICAL and MODERN to the smallest detail. Our students consume LESS TIME in acquiring our high grade courses than those taking superficial courses offered elsewhere. This shows the EXCELLENCE OF OUR TEACHING STAFF.

Attend the schools that are backed by the people of their own city and community.

Attend the schools that have the latest and best systems of shorthand and bookkeeping.

Attend the schools that take an individual interest in the progress and success of every student.

Attend the schools that assure a good position to every graduate or refund tuition.

We Employ No Solicitors

No good school does. A school that asks you to sign contracts or notes or papers of any kind before or after entering is a good school to avoid. There is not a single first class business school in the country that now sends out canvassing agents to get students.

Write for our new catalogue and learn more of the opportunities offered by these up-to-date Schools of Business.

H. STEVENS OF MADISON TAKES
BAD TUMBLE IN SECOND EVENT
TODAY AT FAIR GROUNDS.

MANY WITNESS EVENTS

Ten Fast Motorcycle Races Were Run
Off at Official Opening of Janesville Park Association Grounds.

At half past three o'clock this afternoon the most spectacular race in the motorcycle series which were being run off at the Fair Grounds, was that of the ten mile event for private owners. In the fifth lap H. Stevens of Madison, driving an Indian machine, fell on a curve. He miraculously escaped without injury and before many in the vast crowd new that he had mounted his machine and was speeding on his way faster than ever. Covered with mud and dirt he came in at the finish in second place with 2 and 2/5 seconds of the winner. The results: first, E. Daine, time, 15:01 and 1/5; second, H. Stevens, time, 15:05; Perry third, time, 15:29.

Weather Excellent.
Weather conditions made it an ideal day for the big motorcycle races under the auspices of the Janesville Park Association and a large crowd was in attendance as the result, the people flocking in from Madison, Stoughton, Evansville, Beloit, Monroe and other nearby towns and from the surrounding farms. At least two thousand spectators, it is estimated, witnessed the sport and a lively interest in the meet, the first of its kind ever held in Janesville, was displayed.

Official Opening.
The meet was the official opening of the new mile and half mile tracks at the grounds. The tracks, recently built, were in the best of condition, having been heavily sprinkled and watered last night and were down again today for the comfort of the spectators and the safety of the experts who have inspected it say it is one of the best in the state and say some good fast time should be made on it.

Officials For Today.
The officials for the races today were as follows: H. H. McDaniel, manager of the motor department; John Anderson, referee; Leonard Matthews, starter; Roy C. Clarke, announcer; Ed. Donald, L. C. Fisher and Albert Gidley, judges.

Fourth Race Exciting.
A race number 1 was for three miles, 30 to 50 class, and was most closely contested. At the first turn Wade cut ahead of Stevens. At the second lap they ran neck and neck. At the third Wade forged a little ahead but Stevens came up and at the stretch they raced again neck and neck. And when Stevens came in only a few feet ahead of Wade.

Might Be Good Scheme.
Dryden married Lady Elizabeth How and a shrew of marked ability. She complained that he showed her no attention, and wished herself a book that he might enjoy more of her society. "Wish yourself an almanac, my dear; then I could change you every year."

LABOR DAY DATE IS NAMED BY GOVERNOR

Monday September 4th is Officially Named in Executive Proclamation As Workman's Holiday.

Gov. McFarland officially designated Monday, Sept. 4, as Labor day, in a proclamation issued today. In part the executive says:

"Labor is the only truly almighty. The laborer alone truly transmutes base metal into gold by giving value to things before found worthless. Labor on the farm, in the mine, and in the forest, adds to the sum of raw materials adapted to man's use.

"Labor in the shop, in the factory and mill, fits products thus wrested from stubborn nature to practical ends and the satisfaction of human wants. The laborer, therefore, is the real creator of wealth although at times others may be custodians of it, charged with the duty of using it for the promotion of the common good."

It had been raining steadily, and the four-year-old had resigned himself to looking out the window. Suddenly out came the sun. "Well," exclaimed he, "there's the sun! Isn't God a caution?" The Deliberator.

FEWER EMIGRANTS THAN IN LAST YEAR

Various Causes Are Assigned For
Decrease in Number of Immigrants from Germany and Russia

The number of emigrants leaving the German North Sea ports this year is much less than in 1910. For the first seven months of the year Hamburg reported a reduction of 20,000 in a total of 48,538. The causes assigned for the lighter outgo this year are in part the unfavorable business situation in the United States and the more rigid application of the American immigration laws. Another cause however is evidently prosperous condition of the chief countries that now supply the bulk of the immigrants into the United States. This year Germany itself is feeling very keenly the shortage in the supply of Russian farm laborers, due to the fact that Russia is now enjoying unusual prosperity, wages have been raised and the people are consequently staying at home. The shortage of Russian laborers has amounted to the proportions of the calamity for the farmers in the eastern German provinces. Fewer Gallians and English laborers, too, are coming into Germany this year, owing to more prosperous times in those countries; the same thing is true in regard to Italy.

CATTLE AFFLICTED BY RARE DISEASE

Dreaded Anthrax Thought To Be Among Herd of Monroe County
Cattle Was Another Bad Disease.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Aug. 26.—What was suspected to be the dreaded anthrax in a herd of cattle at Tunnel City, Monroe County, turns out upon analysis here to be hemorrhagic septicaemia. This infectious disease, although comparatively rare may develop into an epidemic unless promptly placed under control. Its nature has never been fully understood.

The Charles Schuler of the state livestock sanitary board went to Tunnel City Wednesday to investigate a supposed case of anthrax on the farm of Richard Wendorf. He pronounced the mainly hemorrhagic septicaemia. Analyses are being continued at the laboratory in this city. Three of the cows have died and others are afflicted.

This disease broke out in Kenosha County about three weeks ago and Dr. A. H. Hartwick, state veterinarian, visited one farm where thirteen cattle were infected.

Hydrophobia Epidemic.
Ontario, Vernon County, is the seat of a hydrophobia epidemic which has set the whole village up in arms against all roving dogs. As a result, three men, one of them being George Downing owner of the mad dog, which started the outbreak are taking Pasteur treatment in this city after being bitten.

The cattle on the farm of Leonard Haldon near Onawa, were found suffering from rabies and a staff man from the state sanitary board sent the heads of two cows to Madison where examinations confirmed the diagnosis. Haldon was instructed to quarantine his herd.

Offices Moved.
The offices of the state livestock sanitary board were moved yesterday from the Washington building to Rooms 321-323 on the third floor of the west wing of the capitol.

PLAY IS PRESENTED BY CHURCH SOCIETY

Epworth League of Edgerton M. E.
Church Gave Novel Entertainment—Other News of Interest.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, Aug. 26.—Last night in the parlors of the M. E. church a novel entertainment was given by members of the Epworth League. The title of the play was "The Train Excursion" and was well carried out. The ticket office, seats arranged as in a train, conductor, porter, newsboy, etc., made one feel as if he were actually on a train. Rev. Mac Innis acted as guide, giving a vivid description of the country through which the train passed. The route was supposed to be from Alexandria, Egypt. Some of the passengers were dressed to represent various conditions in life and a "newly-married" couple were "freed." The songs by the "dusky jubilee singers" were heartily enjoyed. The dining car lunch counter was well represented.

WM ALDEN SMITH.
ADDS NEW TROPHY TO HIS COLLECTION.
William Alden Smith, Senator of Michigan.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—When Senator William Alden Smith returns this week from Washington he will bring with him a beautiful gold pen, a memento of one of the most important features in which this busy statesman has been engaged. The pen is the one with which President Taft signed the bill which will add two new stars to the American flag and add to the Union new Mexico and Arizona. The reason that Senator Smith is so favored is because it was his compromise measure which eventually carried Congress to overwhelmingly after the original draft had been vetoed by the President.

This is a similar remembrance to the one given Senator Smith when he was Congressman and played such an important part in the days just preceding the Spanish-American war.

Because of his active part in the debate concerning the war with Spain, he was presented by President McKinley with the gold pen with which the martyred President signed the declaration of war against Spain.

Andrew Toth of Pittsburgh, who served twenty years in prison though innocent of any crime.

New York City.—For the balance of his life, owing to the generosity of Andrew Carnegie, Andrew Toth is to live in comparative ease in his native country, Hungary. It was but a few months ago that Toth was released from the Pennsylvania penitentiary after having served twenty years for a murder which recent evidence showed he did not commit. He sailed on August 22nd on board the steamer Kronprinzessin Cecelia for Hungary and owing to the pension of $10,000 per month given him by Andrew Carnegie, will be able to live in comparative ease in the home of his birth. The case of Andrew Toth is one of the most unusual in American criminal annals.

As a young man he journeyed to America from Hungary and located near Pittsburgh. A brutal murder was committed and circumstantial evidence pointed strongly to the immigrant Toth. He was convicted and sentenced to prison for life. After serving twenty years the confession of the guilty party freed him and he was given his liberty and a pension by the Pittsburgh philanthropist.

concerned and the general public has but a faint idea of the gigantic task of planning and preparing the season's work in the theatrical profession.

The producing managers have been extremely active during the summer months and, after a careful survey of the available new plays produced since the beginning of last season, have made their selection of such play's as in their opinion, would best fit the peculiar tastes and talents of their star players, masculine as well as feminine. A big crop of new plays has been gathered and practically every one of the prominent stars will be provided with some new medium, in addition to plays already known, in which the stars have won successes in former seasons.

John Drew will open his season at the Empire Theatre, New York, on Labor Day, with "The Single Man," and if the play makes a hit, will probably continue in it for the rest of the season.

Edwin Burroughs will follow John Drew at the Empire Theatre, playing "The Witness for the Defense." Her leading man will be A. E. Anson. Mrs. Fiske has prepared two new plays for the coming season and will appear in a new play adapted from the French, the name of which has not yet been given.

James K. Hackett will have two new plays during the coming season, one by the author of "The World and His Wife," the other by James Fagan. Robert Edeson will begin his season in Providence about the middle of the month in "The Cave Man," a comedy by Gillette Burgess. Grace Elliston will be his leading woman.

Margaret Anglin has a new play, called "Kindling," from the pen of Charles Kenyon. She will tour the west during the first part of the season.

Helen Ware will begin her season in Boston in "The Price" and will not reach New York until later in the season.

Elsie Ferguson will not begin her season until some time in October, when she will appear in "Dolly Madison," a play by Charles Nordlinger.

George Arliss will open his season at Wallack's Theatre, New York, in Louis N. Parker's new play, "Disraeli," founded upon episodes in the life of the great statesman.

Margaret Anglin will present two new plays this coming season. She will open the season in "Green Stockings," and later will try Israel Zangwill's play, "The Next Religion."

Frank McIntyre will begin his season in "Snobs," a comedy by George Irenson-Howard and will have the support of a strong company.

"The Arab," a play of the Orient by ed by his parents will appear in his own play, "The Little Millmaid."

Hazelietta Crossman will start her season in Catherine Chisholm Cushing's new comedy, "The Fool Thinks," but may make a change later.

Fritz Scheff is to appear in "The Duchess," by Joseph Herbert and Harry B. Smith, with music by Victor Herbert.

George Arliss will open Wallack's Theatre with Louis N. Parker's "Disraeli."

The work of pulling down Madison Square Garden, New York, will begin next February.

Marguerite Clark is to star in Owen Davis' new play, "When All the World Was Young."

Harry B. Smith and Reginald de Koven are at work on a new musical play for the Shuberts.

Eddie Foy's new musical farce is called "The Pet of the Petticoats." It opened at Ashbury Park, August 25.

Fritz Scheff is to appear in "The Duchess," by Joseph Herbert and Harry B. Smith, with music by Victor Herbert.

Margaret Anglin will begin her season in "Green Stockings," and later will try Israel Zangwill's play, "The Next Religion."

Gaby Deslys, with a troupe of five will make her American debut under the Shuberts in "Les Debutants de Chichine," a one-act sketch.

The end of the New York run is not yet in sight. One of the most effective results of the "Pink Lady" craze is the public demand for musical entertainments following the lines of "The Pink Lady."

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," will make its first tour this season in the third year of its existence. The first season was played in Boston and New England. Not until a year later was the play brought to New York, where it remained during its second year, charming thousands with its simplicity, humor and heart tugs.

New York, Aug. 26.—That New York can already fairly claim to be the largest city in the world is shown by a comparison of the census just completed in London with the health department's estimate of New York's numbers. The population of the administrative county and city of London is 4,522,628, as compared with 4,562,385, the population of the administrative boroughs of New York city on January 1. To retain first place, London must include the outlying metropolitan police districts, which will give her more than 7,500,000.

SON ADMITS RE KILLED ONE OF THREE MURDERED

Indianan Declares He Struck Down Father After Father Had Slain Mother and Brother.

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 26.—After being subjected to continuous questioning for almost thirty hours in jail, William Lee made a written statement in which he said he had killed his father, Richard Lee, in self-defense after the father had murdered his wife and a younger son, Clarence.

He is alleged to have confessed to Raymond Seales, the sheriff, and was taken away as fast as automobiles could carry him to Evansville, in fear of mob violence. In his confession Lee said: "I was returning home from Newburg Wednesday night about ten o'clock, when I met my father at the door. He was armed with an ax."

"I am going to kill you, too," said his father to him. Lee says he grabbed the ax and killed his father, but that he did not mean to do more than disable him. Lee says that he did this in self-defense and that a terrible struggle ensued. As his father fell he said he went into the room, where all the gruesome arrangements had been made to do away with the traces of the murder of his mother and sister.

The bodies were already saturated with coal oil. He poured and then, fascinated, terror-stricken and half-demented, knowing no wisdom and unable to tell how the thing would look, he set fire to the bodies. This is the substance of the alleged confession made by William Lee.

Dr. J. P. Samples, the family physician, took him in his automobile, under heavy guard, to Evansville. This was done before the townspeople knew of the confession. No sooner had the automobile left the little town of Boonville than the news of the confession became known and the popular insistence on Lee's entire guilt became more clamorous. The people believe that the statement of Lee that this was prying on his mind will lead to a complete confession of the whole crime before long, although they maintain that this confession is the only thing on which he can rest his case.

KING ALPHONSO PLAYS POLO.

King Alfonso of Spain has developed into a formidable polo player during the time he was in England attending the coronation ceremonies and immediately thereafter, he was frequently seen playing the game with a vim and vigor characteristic of the ruler of Spain. It was King Alfonso only a few years ago, when attacks were first brought into Spain, who wanted to make a flight and was only persuaded from his determination after a considerable pressure had been brought to bear.

HERE is the story that will be of intense interest to the entire motor-world. Below are the Overland facts for 1912. To the man who knows automobile values, these cars at these remarkably low prices speak for themselves. They need no explanation--no arguments. But to the man who has never owned a car, and is now in the market for one, we simply ask him to compare what we have to offer with that of any other maker in the world, and the economy of buying an OVERLAND will be apparent—even to a novice.

After all, what interests you most in an automobile is the price, and the man who follows our suggestions and carefully compares values can find a way to save considerable money.

Watch the announcements of all the other manufacturers. See what they have to offer. Compare their values with the OVERLAND line and prices for the coming season and see for yourself who are the pace-makers for 1912.

The OVERLAND plants are the largest of their kind in the world. This year we will make 20,000 cars. As the production cost of an automobile is governed almost entirely by the quantity of cars a plant turns out, we feel that it is a safe and sane statement to say that no other manufacturer in the business can turn out the efficient and powerful cars that we do and sell them at our prices without losing money. This is a fact—not a theory. The larger the production of a factory the more efficient and labor-saving automatic machinery can be operated. And this is what brings the price of an automobile down. As it is a fact that we will build 20,000 cars how can the 5,000 and 10,000-car factory give you so much for so little money as we do? Study the values below.

BIG RAIL STRIKE APPEARS NEARER

President Lovett of Harriman Lines Declines Conference With Union Heads.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Upon the slight possibility of inducing Julius Kruttschnitt, vice-president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, to change his position and recognize the railroad federation of mechanical crafts rests the sole chance of averting a significant strike of shop workers on all the Harriman lines.

An unsuccessful effort was made on the part of the labor leaders to secure a conference with President Robert S. Lovett of the Harriman lines in New York. The strike vote of the Illinois Central employees, which was counted in Paducah, Ky., showed an overwhelming majority in favor of a walkout if their federation is not recognized.

President Lovett declined to interfere in the situation, declaring that Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the lines, is acting with full authority. President J. W. Kluge of the Blacksmiths' brotherhood wired to Mr. Kruttschnitt, now on his way to San Francisco, asking him to name a place and date for a conference.

Mr. Kluge wired President Lovett asking a conference. As Mr. Lovett indicated in a reply that Mr. Kruttschnitt has the backing of the board of directors in refusing to recognize the union, little in the way of definite results is expected from the conference.

Caucussing of the strike votes on the Illinois Central completed during the day at Paducah showed an overwhelming vote for a walkout.

FOOD MEN DOUBLE CROSSED

Declares Election of Wiley Ticket Was Unfair.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 26.—The election of the Wiley ticket at the convention of the state and national dairy and food departments perhaps widened the split between the opposing factions.

The Wilson men, charging that the state of Minnesota had "double crossed" them in the election, and even alleging that the Democratic party in Ohio had "buried" a Wiley delegate here for the purpose of voting and adding to the difficulties confronting the federal investigators in Washington, left for their homes determined, they said, to continue their fight.

The members of the Wilson faction claim that they had a clear majority for their candidates and that Minnesota had promised its three votes.

FRANCE FIXES FINAL TERMS

Cabinet Approves Basis for Negotiations With Germany.

Paris, Aug. 26.—A cabinet council was held and the course of the negotiations with Germany over the Moroccan dispute was unanimously approved, as were the instructions to Jules Cambon, the French ambassador to Germany, as drawn up by M. de Selves, the minister of foreign affairs, and M. Cambon, after long conferences in which Premier Caillaux, L. le Brun, the minister of colonies, and M. Crippel, the minister of justice, participated.

The instructions endeavor to phrase the French conception of Germany's position in Morocco and authorize M. Cambon to offer specific parts of French Congo in exchange for the absolute recognition by Germany of French rights in Morocco.

GERMAN SHOTS STIR YANKEES

Naval Men Indignant Because of Torpedo Practice in U. S. Waters.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The action of the German cruiser Bremen in holding torpedo practice exercises in Buzzard's bay without permission from this government is regarded by high officers of the navy as a breach of international etiquette and a fit subject for a protest to Germany.

The matter, however, they declare, is largely a "state department affair," and officials of that department are uncommunicative on the subject except to say this government was advised by Germany of the visit of the ship, but that no permission for practice exercises were asked.

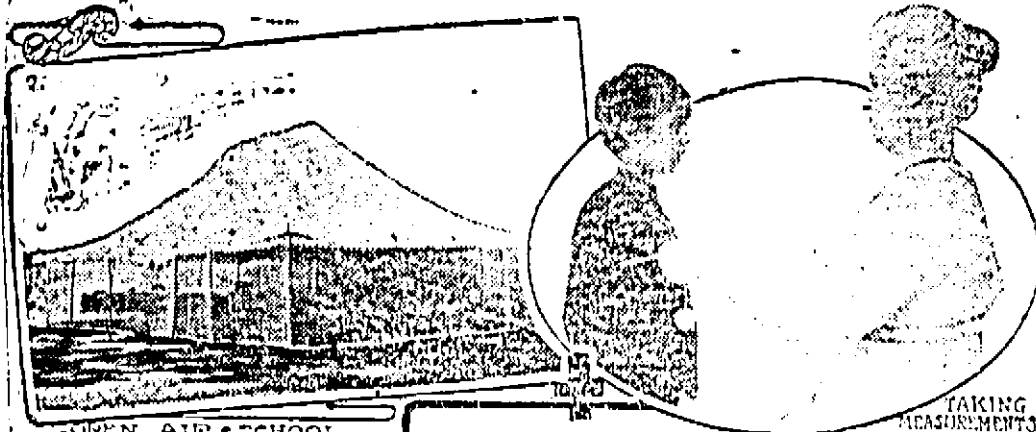

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM WOMAN FOR WHOSE HONOR HE KILLED MAN.

Captain Haines, from a sketch made just prior to his incarceration in Sing Sing where he is serving a sentence of eight years for killing William E. Annis. Mrs. Haines, wife of the prisoner.

New York City.—Captain Peter C. Haines has brought suit for divorce from his wife, thus bringing to a final climax one of the most dramatic instances of recent criminal history.

It was for the honor of his wife, Mrs. Haines, that the captain killed, at the Bay Side Yacht club, in August, 1908, William E. Annis.

It is doubtful whether he will be released from prison long enough to at last testify at his own divorce proceedings. Annis, now dead three years, is eight years sentenced in Sing Sing and named as correspondent.

OPEN AIR SCHOOL.

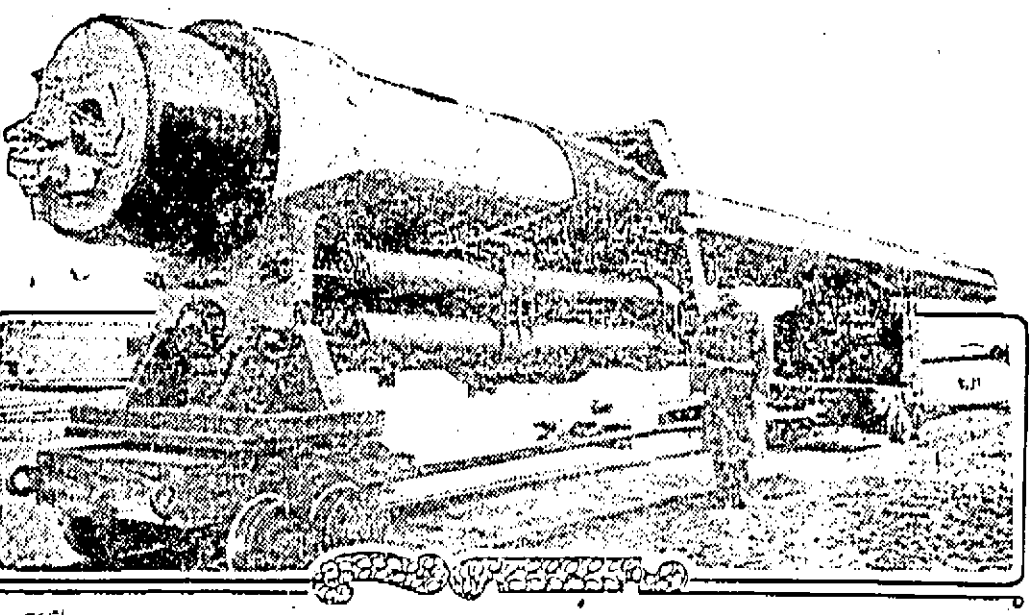

COMBATING TUBERCULOSIS WITH OPEN AIR METHODS.

Grand Rapids, Michigan.—The Anti Tuberculosis movement is general throughout the world and yet it has remained for Grand Rapids with one or two other cities to take the lead in the actual constructive work.

This city has an unique tent institution operated by the Board of Education and the Anti-Tuberculosis Society generally. Although in operation but two months this institution has shown marked improvement in health and in the knowledge of correct living.

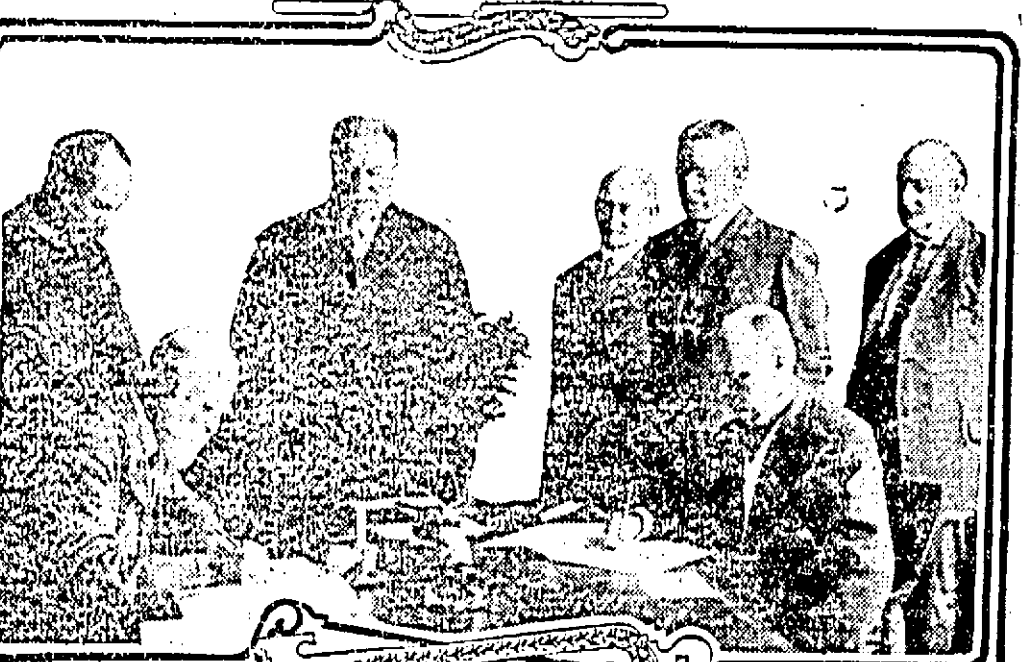

An immense tent has been set up near one of the school houses and here from nine in the morning until three in the afternoon boys and girls are taught how to eat strength, health and flesh. The children who attend are given a bread and milk breakfast when they arrive. At noon they are drilled on how to wash and each is provided with tooth wash and given a tooth brush. All must scrub until the instructor tells them to stop. An hour's slumber in cots and steamer chairs is taken a bath at home each day. Chest measurements, weights and temperatures are taken to determine gain or loss by the pupils. The school will continue through the winter and it is expected it will be a feature as the pupils show marked improvement.

Church Building In Sections.

The Episcopal Diocese of Maryland has received a novel gift. It is a portable church building, made in sections in "knock-down" style, and capable of seating 250 persons. It is to be used by the committee on church extension in founding new missions. It will be set up in some promising mission field, occupied by the converts until they are able to provide something better and more permanent, then knocked down and taken to some other place where it is needed.

Think of Living.

Reader! to thee thyself, even now, he (Goethe) has one counsel to give, the secret of his whole poetic achievement: Gedenke zu leben. Yes, "think of living!" Thy life, wert thou the "fullest of all the sons of earth," is no idle dream but a solemn reality. It is thy own; it is all thou hast to front eternally with. Work, then, even as he has done, and does—"Like a star unobscured, yet unobscured."—Carlyle.

MOTHER'S CORNER

BY JULIA CHANDLER.

"All that I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to my Mother."
—Abraham Lincoln.

IN THE LITTLE THINGS.

JOHN had gone out on the vacant lot one afternoon at Laddie's call to help him in a game of ball. I followed to look on, for there is nothing so splendid in my eyes as the eager faces of boys playing baseball. The two sons of The-Mother-of-Five were there. At six o'clock they were getting ready to go home when John stopped them.

"Don't go right in the middle of the game, boys," he said.

"Got to," they told him, "we promised mother to come home at six."

And home they went as cheerfully as though they were not leaving the game at its most exciting point.

"They are the most dependable boys I ever saw," remarked John as we sat on the front steps discussing the matter after tea.

"They don't lie," I said.

"But most boys stretch a point now and then," he told me.

"Would you want Laddie to?" I asked.

No, of course not, certainly he didn't want Laddie to, but then, he said, it was unreasonable to expect a boy to leave a game of ball in the middle just to get home at a set hour. He thought The-Mother-of-Five a little strict on certain points—perhaps a trifle exacting.

"It is not because she expects it. They would do it anyway. They have never learned the other way."

"What is the other way?" asked John.

"The lying way," I answered him.

"I think you are making a mountain out of a mole hill."

"No, I am not. But also there is to accumulate, the one upon the top of the other, and mole hills will make a mountain," said I.

"And the reason that they have not learned to lie is because there is no one to teach them. The-Mother-of-Five doesn't lie," I went on.

"Of course not!"

"Some mothers do," I assured him.

He looked at me incredulously.

"If Mother leaves a child at home, telling him not to leave the house until her return, promising to be back in twenty minutes, and stays two hours, while he waits and wonders and is lonely, isn't it a breach of faith? When she tells her small daughter that she may have her little friend for dinner and afterwards says it will not be convenient, doesn't she not only inflict an unnecessary disappointment, but also lie? When she promises to mend a ball today, and for no good reason puts the task off until tomorrow, keeping the anxious boy waiting a day, do you think it is calculated to make him respect her word, or an example likely to inspire him to fulfill his promises to others? She may not know at the time, but she knows her in the balance and finds her pitifully wanting. The eyes of your children look through you and read your naked soul."

"The-Mother-of-Five lied once," I said when the oldest was six. It was a beautiful summer evening and she had told him that he could stay out on his roller skates until seven. Afterwards she decided to go out for the evening and wanted to get him in bed, so she called him to come in at ten minutes to seven.

"It is time to come in now," she called to him.

He came, bowing. "Then he looked at the clock and saw. He didn't say a word, but The-Mother-of-Five knew that strange things were going on in his mind. She could hardly stand the reproach of his eyes. A few evenings later when he had promised not to go beyond the corner as he must 'come in at seven' he went farther away. At seven he was not in sight. At seven-fifteen he came in breathless.

"It is a quarter past," said The-Mother-of-Five.

"It was ten minutes to the other night," said the boy. He had no intention of being impudent, but he did have an intention of justifying his breach of faith.

"It simply meant that he could break his word to her with impunity, if she could break her word to him."

"I am interested to know if she was generous enough to own up," said John.

"That they had both been wrong, yes; she first, and he last. Then they promised each other to be forever faithful in the little things which have as their backbone the same principle as the big things."

"And they have each kept their word."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

THERE is a girl in our town who stands today with one foot in the grave because of overwork.

She had a widowed mother and younger sister to support, and has worked very hard as a stenographer for eight years. And today, as she faces death, she says, "At least I am not to blame for the condition I am in. I had to do it. And I've done all I could. No one could have possibly done any more."

Much as I honor the girl, deeply as I grieve for her, I differ from her about that.

She could have done more.

Others have done more.

Now, please, before you get indignant at my hard-heartedness, listen to what I have to tell you about another girl.

This second girl has been helping to support a large family of younger brothers and sisters over since her father lost his position several years ago. She, also, is a stenographer, and according to pretty reliable accounts, works as hard as the first girl, if not harder.

And she is not broken down, nor anywhere near it.

Why?

Well, the first girl thought she gave everything to her people.

The second girl really gave everything.

The first girl gave all her strength.

The second girl gave all her strength, and in addition gave the care and self-restraint that kept the source of that strength still good.

The first girl used to come home from her work tired out and eat her dinner without reading. Sometimes after dinner she would sit down and unbutton or read until late at night. Other times she would go to a dance or the theatre. She almost never took any healthy exercise, and seldom got enough sleep.

In the morning she would get up with barely time to get to work, bolt her breakfast and run for the train. She often went without hunches to save money for some luxury.

The second girl usually walked to and from work for the sake of the exercise. When she reached home she would rest for a few minutes before eating. After dinner she usually went for a walk. She tried to be in bed every night except Saturday at halfpast ten. If she went to a dance or to the theatre, it always had to be Saturday night. In the morning she got up at halfpast six, which gave her time for a set of exercises, a cold sponge and a good breakfast. Sundays, she often went out into the country, and almost always, winter and summer, spent a good part of the day out of doors.

Of course, I honor the first girl, but I honor the second even more.

There are men and women everywhere who think they are showing the highest possible devotion to their families if they work themselves to death for them.

But they are not.

There is a still higher devotion, and that is to go live, so save and husband and care for one's self as to be able to keep on living for them.

Don't you think so?

TALK TO HOUSE-KEEPERS

(By Nellie L. Horn.)

"Cookery is become an art, a noble science."

—Burton.

We hear people speak of "chicken en casserole" in the same tone that they use in speaking of private yachts and diamond tiaras. Yet it is within the means of every housewife to own a casserole, and to serve the countless delectable dishes that may be cooked in them. Of course, there are casseroles and casseroles—from those with the plated silver holders down to those of common fire-plate and the fowl roasts and vegetables cooked in the latter are just as tender and savory and appetizing as those cooked in the most ornate affair ever constructed. In fact the French casserole is the kind used by the French even down to the poorest peasant and has had a large share in the making of their justly enviable reputation as cooks. It comes in all sizes from the small enough for two individual portions (though these smaller ones are called ramequins) to those large enough to roast a turkey or a goose. They are highly glazed inside, and have a tightly fitting cover which prevents the escape of steam and aroma. It is well worth knowing that the cheaper ones of metal and the old fowl roasts and vegetables cooked in the latter are just as tender and savory and appetizing as those cooked with yours. It may be brought to the table on a chafin plate or serving tray to facilitate passing.

The best results are obtained by baking in the oven, though very good work can be done on the top of the stove also, care being taken to protect the casserole from the direct flame of an oil or gas stove by means of an asbestos mat.

The ramequins are a wonderful help in the utilizing of left-over meats, fowl, fish or vegetables, for in these the odds and ends are transformed into dainty souffles, devilled or creamed dishes appetizing and palatable, and pleasing to the eye.

The casserole may be used simply as a roasting pan for roasts and fowl, or some of the savory French combinations may be cooked in them. A dish that lends itself equally well to round steak, veal, mutton, lamb or pork steak is made as follows: cut the meat in pieces of serving size, and season with salt and pepper. Broil over a fire, leaving a small space in the center, and laying strips of parsley between each layer. Pare an onion and stick in it five or six cloves; place this in the center. Pour on enough water or stock to barely cover the meat. On top lay a sufficient number of potatoes pared and halved the long way, and some scraped carrots if desired, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with bits of butter, cover well, and bake from two to three hours, depending on the quantity prepared. This is a dish that you will relish keenly, and has many points in its favor. The flour with which the meat was dredged, together with the water or stock makes the gravy, the meat will be tender and juicy, while the vegetables will be evenly and thoroughly done. All have been cooked in one dish, and will be served in the same, making a noticeable difference in the dishwashing. It may be kept hot for a long time for the late comers without detracting from its savorness, and without fear of poisonous poisoning as in the case of iron pans. In fact, all housekeepers will find the casserole to be a great time and labor saver, as well as the means of preparing countless delectable dishes.

SAVORY DISHES.

During the summer months dishes with smaller amounts of meat are more appealing to the average appetite. This is the time to use eggs, sauces and cheese, and let roast pork and such heavy meats have a vacation.

Cream toast makes a very nice luncheon dish and one that is sufficient in nourishment. The up-to-date housewife plans her meals so that there will be plenty of food to repair waste and build tissue.

Rarebit Cream Toast.—Trim off the crust from six slices of bread. Toast delicately and dip quickly into boiling salted water. Spread with butter, cover in a tureen and keep hot. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add two tablespoonfuls of flour or one of flour and one of cornstarch, stir and cook until smooth. Season with salt and pepper and two tablespoonfuls of cheese after adding a pint of hot milk. Just before serving add a teaspoonful of Worcester-shire sauce. Pour over the toast and serve hot.

Mock Terrapin.—Cook together two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and one of flour with two tablespoonfuls of butter, salt, maca, cayenne and a half a cup of cream. When smooth add a half a cup of cooked rice, a half cup of cooked calf's liver, chopped, half a cup of cold cooked veal, two hard eggs and a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley. Mix well together and add a teaspoonful of lemon juice, simmer and serve in ramekins.

Delicious Creamed Potatoes.—Cook new potatoes with the skins on in boiling salted water. Let stand until the next day before using. Peel, cut in small cubes, sprinkle with salt and pepper. In a double boiler put two tablespoonfuls of butter, add the same amount of cornstarch and cook until smooth, gradually add two cups of thin cream and cook until the raw taste has left the starch. Turn in the potatoes, add a few drops of onion juice and a dash of grated cheese and serve.

Capital Punishment in Germany. Although little is heard outside Prussia of capital punishment within the kingdom, the law is by no means a dead letter. In seven years there have been 98 executions, ten of the condemned being women. Silesia heads the list with 21 executions, followed by Brandenburg, Posen and Rhineland. No executions take place in Berlin, the condemned being taken to the prison at Moetzensee, in Brandenburg, where they have a standing gallotine.

Rare Combination. Experience joined with common sense to mortals is a providence.—Green.

The Candid Girl by Barbara Boyd

Gives Little Willie's Opinions on Some Matters Of Importance.

IF I were a small boy," said the Candid Girl, "seems to me, I would like to have a turn now and then at telling my parents my side of things. I wonder why small boys can't do that without its being considered impudent or disrespectful. Why can't six say pleasantly and calmly to Twenty-six, 'Come now, mother, let's consider this question of keeping my face clean, instead of having to listen to interminable lectures on the subject all from her point of view.'"

"The ideal" said the woman sipping lemonade. "A nice lot of forward, unruly children we would have."

"I think Willie's side would be interesting," said the Candid Girl.

"Well, what do you think Willie would say?" smilingly asked one.

The Candid Girl smiled back. "Well, he might ask, 'Is it a vital matter whether my face is clean or not? and can you expect me to stop when I'm playing baseball or flying a kite to see if my face is clean, or refuse to play marbles because I will get my hands dirty; or if I'm chasing a boy who stole my ball to stop running because I suddenly remember I may fall down and tear my pants? If I sat around and didn't play because I would get dirty, or was drawing out a little pocket mirror every few minutes to see if my face was clean, you wouldn't think much of me as a boy. And yet if I got dirty, you scold. That's not being reasonable. I'm not much interested in clothes or a clean face. There's plenty of time for things like that when life is less interesting.'"

"Then, if I were Willie, I think I'd tell my mother I really wasn't much interested yet in my soul, and that if she couldn't explain it to me so as to make it worth while to take a day off to look after it, I'd rather take chances and do what I please on Sunday."

The woman sipping lemonade looked scandalized.

"Well, if you ask most small boys, I think they look on Sunday as wasted. Being dressed up and going to church and Sunday School seems to them a loss of valuable time."

"But it's good for them," said one woman.

"Perhaps!" said the Candid Girl, "if they know what they are doing. But it seems to me, if you can teach a child to be good every day in the week, instead of trying to pile it all in on one day, the result would be more satisfactory. It isn't that a child objects to being good. I think a child is naturally good, if he is appealed to in the right way. But it is being dressed up and being painfully polite that makes a child avoid Sunday. I think he is just as inclined to steal cake on Sunday as on any other day. It's having to be conventionally different from what he really is that he objects to. The small boy never takes kindly to being a sham."

"Then," hurried on the Candid Girl seeing that some of the women were about to interrupt, "I think a small boy could say a lot about running errands. No doubt many a boy would like to tell his mother he does get tired running to the store half a dozen times when, if she would only think, one would do; that's because he's a boy, his legs aren't mechanical; and though he can play all day and not mind it, running errands and waiting on people are different, and have the germ of fatigue in them."

"And though he may wait at mealtime, cheerfully—or otherwise—when there is company, and see all the good things disappear, he should not be expected to do it as a matter of course just because he is a boy. If he could express himself on the subject, I think he would like to have his feelings considered in the matter, instead of his being brushed aside as if he were of no importance whatever."

"You'd have awful bad children," said the women in a chorus.

The Candid Girl smiled. "Well, just try, once, getting your boys to tell you honestly what they think on some of these subjects. I have an idea there are some surprises in store for you."

COMPOSITION OF SKIM MILK

Water 90.5 Fat 0.3 Protein 3.4 Ash 0.7 Carbohydrates 3.1

FEED VALUE 65 CALORIES PER POUND

The composition of skim milk differs little from that of buttermilk, and it differs from sweet milk only in having nearly all its fat removed, which raises the percentage of water.

If skim milk can be bought for half the price of sweet milk immediately after it has been separated, and is then converted into buttermilk by the use of the tablet, it is an economical and good food and preferable to the buttermilk ordinarily offered for sale.

From the scientific dietitian's point of view, the fat is more valuable in the milk than as butter, because more digestible, fresher and freer from contamination, to which butter is often subjected before it reaches the table.

Thought for Today by MRS. ROBERT M. LAVOLLETTE

THE BABY.

THE BABY should be fed regularly and sleep regularly and should not be taken up nor spoiled. Then it will never cry or have the colic and will be an altogether model child.

But if this inflexible management is best for the precious bit of humanity, how does the rigid discipline affect us? In protecting the babies from every possible contingency of weariness, contention, or nerve strain, are we not depriving the family of the sweetest memories and richest blessings they can ever experience?

I would not always hark back, but when we pass beyond the realm of necessity it is very important we should not forget the lessons of that school.

My mother came to the unbroken state of Wisconsin a wife of sixteen. She had three children when she was twenty-one. She credited my grandmother Case with much of her wisdom in the care of babies. I have heard my grandmother say her schooling stopped with the rule of three, but I find her precepts and example for the care and management of infants are wiser than those given in the books. She and my mother, along with that rational care which did not spoil, "mothered" their young; followed the instinct that sometimes bids us pick the baby up and hold her long and hard, even though it is not the appointed hour; that permits us to cuddle her, even to make her laugh and to cooing little tricks at times, although the darling should not go to sleep on the tick of the clock.

Yes, and it makes us hear to hear the baby cry lustily now and then and take satisfaction in knowing his lungs are sound and that the youngster has his father's spunk, and it gives us strength to leave him cry a bit, if it is not just convenient to look after him at that particular second of time.

Loss of Time means Loss of Pay. Kidney trouble and the ill it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Halent, 1214 Little Penna. St., St. Louis, Mo., was one of those who lost time and money because he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and I got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ill. Foley Kidney Pills will check the progress of your kidney and bladder trouble and heal by removing the cause. Try them. Badger Drug Co.

Owing to the absence from the city of one of the judges selected to make the awards in the August contest for the women readers of The Gazette, the decision has been delayed. Horn, of 214 School street, a set of flower blue dishes; the third prize to Mrs. Peter Lamson, 1523 Kincer avenue, a vacuum bottle; and the fourth prize to Rebecca Darnell, 206 Madison street, a Sampson Kitchen scale. Why Suffer Longer?

Chiropractic Adjustments Offer You Freedom From Physical Trouble and Disease. Hundreds Are Getting Well.—Chiropractic the Greatest Discovery Mankind Has Ever Seen.

You would never suffer an ache or pain or experience a "sick day" if your nerves were all passing through openings in the spine like the first one between vertebrae 1 and 2. With such a spine all the excretory organs within the body would be highly active and all poisonous matter upon entering the body would be quickly ejected.

The only place where spinal nerves can be interfered with, causing disease, is in the openings between the vertebrae (spinal segments).

When one of the spinal bones subluxates (out of position) due sometimes to a jar, fall or wrench, it closes the opening sometimes as much as half, as in the second opening of the illustration, between the two vertebrae, in such cases the life current from the brain to the organ the nerve supplies is shut off 50%. Every organ of the human body should receive 100% of life current from the brain to perform its proper functions. In case of the organ receiving but 50% of current, due to an obstruction along the nerve leading to that organ, there would be a diseased condition in the part the impeded nerve supplies. This nerve pressure is the cause of disease.

CHIROPRACTORS FIND THE CAUSE OF ALL DISEASE AND REMOVE IT BY MAKING THE OPENING BETWEEN THE VERTABRAE LIKE THE FIRST ONE IN THE CUT.

NEW SIGNS FOR THE CITY STREET CARS

Large Signs Have Been Placed On the Roofs of the City Street Cars To Show Their Destination.

Those people who use the street cars since the line has been repaired, are well able to appreciate the great changes which have been made in the equipment, and the great improvements which have accompanied them. The heavier steel which has been laid on most of the cars makes the operation of the cars much smoother, and the riding much more pleasant for the passengers. When the Washington street line has received its treatment like the rest with this improvement, the whole system will be in far better condition than it was before.

When the new closed cars were brought to Janesville last year, everyone appreciated what a great advance they were over the old cars which had been in use up to that time. Besides being far more slightly, they were a great deal more comfortable to the passengers. But when the open cars were brought to operate on the Janesville streets this summer the popularity of street car riding increased very rapidly and they were found to be a great addition to the service.

The management of the street car company is seeking to improve its service all the time, in all the ways possible. With this in mind, they have just equipped their cars with signs, telling the destination of the car. This will be a great advantage, not only to people only slightly acquainted with the town, but also to those people who are unfamiliar with the new routes which the various cars take on the trips.

It seems to me that to be quiet and to be active, or rather, to be quietly active, constantly going on with untiring energy, and yet so softly as scarcely to be perceptible, this seems to me to be an approach toward perfection. ERUPTION CAUSED TERRIBLE SUFFERING

Baby's Body Covered with Large Sores. Seemed to Itch and Burn. Finger Nails Fell Off. Little or No Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 6 Weeks Cured.

"When my baby boy was six months old, his body was completely covered with large sores that seemed to itch and burn, and caused terrible suffering. The eruption began in pimples which would open and run, making large sores. His hair came out and finger nails fell off, and the sores were over the entire body, causing little or no sleep for him or for me. Great pains would come out when I removed his shirt. We tried a great many remedies, but nothing would help him, till a friend advised me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment but a short time before I could see that he was improving, and in six weeks he was entirely cured. He had suffered about six weeks before we tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment although we had tried several other things, and doctors too. I think the Cuticura Remedies will do all that is claimed for them, and a great deal more." (Signed) Mrs. Noble Tubman, Dodson, Mont., Jan. 28, 1911.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp of infants, children and adults. A single cake of Cuticura Soap (25c) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c) are often sufficient. Although sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin, will be sent free on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 13A, Boston.

Emma—You careless girl! What if you should drown, and not a man in sight.

Ella—You foolish girl! Do you think for a moment that I would think of drowning when there wasn't a man in sight?

YOUTHFUL LOGIC.

The teacher in the elementary mathematics looked hopefully about the room. "Now, children," she said, "I wish you to think very carefully before you answer my next question."

The small pupils sat eagerly awaiting it, wide-eyed and in some instances open-mouthed.

"Which would you rather have, three bags with two apples in each bag, or two bags with three apples in each bag?" asked the teacher.

"Three bags with two apples in each bag," said a boy in one of the last seats, while the class still debated as to the best answer.

"Why, Paul?" asked the teacher. "Because there'd be one more bag to bust," announced the practical young mathematician. — Youth's Companion.

A Different Trouble.

"My good woman, I think you are suffering from an acute attack of nostalgia."

"No, doctor, 'tain't that. I'm only homesick."

Retort in Kind.

"I asked my landlord for improvements, and he gave me a heated reply."

"What was it?"

"He put in a new furnace."

Not So Conclusive.

"Is it always correct to say 'sober as a judge'?"

"Not if the reference is to a judge of good whiskey."

His Species.

"That policeman is crazy about making arrests—a regular bug."

"Yes; sort of plucking bug."

Now They Don't Speak.

Maud—Charles is so poetical. When I accepted him he said he felt like an immigrant entering a new world.

Ethel—Well, there's sense as well as poetry in that. "Wasn't he just landed?"

FAVORITE FICTION.

"No, I'm Not a Bit Seaside; I'm Staying Out Here on Deck to Get the Fresh Air."

"Yes, indeed, the Water is Delightfully Warm; I'm Coming Out Because I Promised Mamma I Wouldn't Stay in More Than a Minute or Two."

"It's so Good to Get Back to Work Again After Your Vacation?"

"We Had to Stop at the Chuckstake House Because All the Good Hotels Were Full."

"Boats on This Line Make Close Connections With Trains at Sandville for All Points in the Interior."

"Millie, How I Envy You That Splendid Coat of Tan!"

HAD COME TO STAY, ANYHOW.

The stranger, who had been detained in the village by a washout on the railway, stepped into the office of the local newspaper.

"I see you call your paper the Experiment-Vindicator," he said. "It's a consolidation, I presume."

"No, sir," answered the editor; "this is the only sheet that ever has been published in the town. I gave it that name because I rather liked the sound of it."

"Doubless, I wanted to see if the people here would give me support enough to vindicate the experiment. If they don't, by golly, sir, I'm going to change the name of it to the Subliminal," edited by A. Holder."

Educational Qualifications.

"If they can train hens, I wonder if they can't educate fies?"

"I don't see why not. Fies have already demonstrated arithmetical powers."

"In what way?"

"Don't they multiply themselves, subtract from our food, add to our worries and divide interest with the germ theory?"

Too Elemental!

Enid was boasting of his prowess. "Here's one," remarked his wife. "If we pay Bridget $25 per month and a neighbor offers her $26, how long will she stay?"

With a wall he fled into the night.

One Punishment for Perjury.

Among the San Dyaks of Borneo lying is almost unknown; and the telling of a lie is shamefully recorded by heaping a pile of branches, to whom every passerby contributes—a punishment dreaded beyond all others.—London Saturday Review.

She Forgot Something.

New Nurse—Please, mum, I can't do a thing with the baby. He cries all the time.

Mistress—Well, I declare! How stupid of me. His other nurses were colored girls. You'll find some stove polish in the kitchen.

No Connection.

A boy was throwing stones at a noisy dog when a passerby stopped and addressed him.

"My boy," the stranger remonstrated, "don't you know you should be kind to dumb animals?"

"Yes," replied the boy, "but what's dumb animals got to do with yelping dogs?" — The Housekeeper.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, August 26, 1871.—Sociable.

Next Tuesday evening is the time set apart by the young ladies of the Christ Church Sunday School Guild for a social gathering in the Apollo hall. The entertainment will be the result of their best efforts for they are sparing no pains to make it a success. They have secured the use of both of Mr. Lappin's halls, which will give them plenty of room in which to entertain their friends. Apollo hall will be used exclusively for dancing, which will commence promptly at eight o'clock. An invitation is extended to all.

Manufactures.

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Trade and of the citizens of Janesville generally who are interested in the growth and prosperity of the place, on Monday evening, August 28th, in the rooms of the common council. Propositions of the greatest importance to the interests of Janesville will be submitted and considered. No donations are asked; no taxes to be levied; but some good paying investments will be presented for our consideration.

Insulting.

"You have five children," said the fortune-teller. "Nothing of the kind," the lady indignantly replied, withdrawing her hand and refusing to submit to further insults. "I want you to understand that I move in one of our most fashionable circles of society."

Voice of Despair.

In a St. Petersburg newspaper there recently appeared the following advertisement: "The wife of a present member of the duma, having given up all hope of getting intelligent occupation, seeks a place as chambermaid."

Got What He Went After.

A committee from the legislature was visiting the state university. They were invited to take supper at the students' club, where most of the poor young fellows who had to work their way got board at cost. After supper the students called on the visitors for speeches. One member from a remote county, who had made his reputation by "being a good talker," grew very eloquent in his encouragement to the boys to go on, in spite of all difficulties. "I know what it is, boys," he said, emphatically. "I had to do for my own education, but I shore got her." — Youth's Companion.
